

EMAIL ARCHIVING

Unlimited archive mailboxes

The volume of email is growing exponentially. This creates its own challenges for data security, compliance and system performance. When you also consider the increase in legal and regulatory requirements it is no wonder that more and more businesses are looking to put in place an archive solution for their emails.

The email archiving & continuity service from Datastore365 addresses the three main challenges of email usage: regulatory compliance, storage and internal policy management. All this without the cost and complication of managing and maintaining an archiving system in house. Simply backing up your email is not sufficient if you are obliged to keep all incoming and outgoing emails for legal or regulatory compliance.

Access levels can be set to restrict access to the mail archive.

Access levels can be set to restrict access to the mail archive. These rights can range from providing all users with easy access to their own archives through a comprehensive web interface, through to manager / team leader access with the ability to view all archived mail. No mail can ever be deleted from the archive.

Email archiving & continuity can also be used for business continuity. Should your mail server become unavailable for whatever reason, you can continue to send and receive emails via the archive control panel. When an employee leaves, his or her replacement can be given access to the departed employee's archived messages in order to preserve correspondence records.

“Keeping and retaining our data for 7 years is something that Datastore365 is easily able to accommodate – I have no regrets about moving the firm to a cloud solution. One of the best things is that we haven’t had to go out there and buy loads of tin, and that’s saved us thousands over the last few years!”
